“Education to Meet Tomorrow’s Challenges”

September 1, 2023

To: Stakeholders of the Union CSD

From: Mr. Howard, Superintendent

Re: This Coming Week

Dear Stakeholders:

Greetings from the Union Community School District! Unfortunately, Mother Nature is not really cooperating with us in terms of the weather for this coming week. The forecast is for temperatures in the mid to upper 90’s with higher humidity on a few of the days.

Similar to the first three days of school, the Union Community School District is not considering any early dismissals this coming week. Administration will continually monitor the needs of our students and staff and work to minimize the negative impact of the heat. If something changes, for whatever reason, you will be notified as soon as possible.

We still encourage those students who ride the bus to and from school to dress accordingly, bring a water bottle/hydro flask, wait inside the building before loading the buses, and put the windows down.

Thank you, in advance, for your support. Let’s hope this is the last communication about heat and humidity this school year. Go Knights!

Sincerely,

John Howard, Superintendent
